The Lion and the Fox

There was once an old lion. He was too weak to still go hunting. So he found himself a cave. There he lay down.

The other animals were very sorry for the king of the animals. One by one they came to visit the lion.

One day the fox came to visit. He stopped in front of the cave. The lion whined, "Come in. I'm too weak to come and meet you."

The fox replied, "I'd rather stay out here and wait until your other visitors have left you. Because I can see a lot of animal tracks leading into your cave, but not a single one coming out again."
